New cohort to begin

August 2021

Elevate your teaching
- Offered entirely online – designed with the busy educator in mind, complete the entire program at a location that’s convenient for you, without the need to commute to campus.
- Learn from award-winning UNI faculty in the areas of Art Education, Art History and Studio Art.
- Delivered on a cohort basis – complete the program with the same group of practicing educators, who become lifelong connections.

Program requirements
Designed for practicing educators, applicants must have a B.A. in Art Education. Applicants with a B.A. in Art History or B.A. or B.F.A. in Studio Art must also have a teaching certificate.

Revitalizing practice through reflective inquiry
This master’s degree program provides practicing teachers in art education access to a comprehensive interdisciplinary, historical, and contemporary orientation to the study and practice of art education. You will learn from professors who are effective teachers and successful artists, designers, and scholars with national and international reputations. This entirely online program utilizes pertinent inquiry and scholarship to empower current art educators to revitalize their practice.
